DAILY — THE UNION

VOL. VIII — PORTLAND, OREGON: MONDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 7, 1868. — NO. 186

Medical.

DR. J. C. YOUNG,

Medical and Surgical INSTITUTE.

- CONSULTATIONS IN ALL CASES, FREE
- CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED
- IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRESY MAINTAINED.

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of this Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of care and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and humanity give assurance of proper and [illegible] treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in [illegible] the invariable success [illegible] marked the career of the [illegible] in the seventeen years of [illegible] practice.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all the complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call especial attention to that terrible scourge, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, which is sapping with its insidious [illegible] the very life of its victims [illegible] in the treatment and cure of which the Institute has [illegible] an enviable a reputation.

EASTERN NEWS

By Overland Mail—Dates to Aug. 21st

[illegible] papers to the 21st August are received. We make the following summary:

[illegible] SEYMOUR'S FRIENDS IN INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, August 19.—At a Copperhead meeting in the Fourth Ward of this city last evening [illegible] of the party, which were on the outskirts of the crowd, endeavored to make a negro, who keeps a grocery in that vicinity, hurrah for Seymour. He answered by cheering for Grant, when a Copperhead struck him in the face with a brick, and then called upon his comrades to rally, which they did instantly as if by a concerted movement. The negro ran through his store, and the crowd [illegible] composed entirely of "White Boys in Blue," gutted his store, broke in his windows, helped themselves to his cigars, tobacco, etc. His money drawer was also robbed of some forty dollars. Some fifty pistol shots were fired at the house, but no one was injured except a Lieutenant of the "White Boys," who was struck in the back of the head with a stone by some of his own men.

The procession, on returning to their quarters, passed the colored Baptist Church, where a festival was in progress, and immediately commenced an attack on the church. The doors were barricaded until the women could escape, when the door was broken in and a large number of windows were broken. A number of shots were exchanged between the "White Boys" and the colored people, and many stones were thrown, but no one was seriously injured. The officers finally got the rioters to desist and return to their quarters.

The excitement is very high between the colored people and rioters and their political friends. The affair is to be investigated. The outbreak is only the legitimate consequence of the incendiary speeches that Democratic orators have been making [illegible] weeks past.

A REBEL CAMPAIGN DOCUMENT

WASHINGTON, August 20.—Robert Ould, late rebel Commissioner of Exchange, prints a long letter here this morning for use as a campaign document, in which all the old stories concerning this subject are repeated. The military authorities here assert that the main statements he makes are entirely destitute of truth.

[illegible] THE WARLIKE INTENTIONS OF THE SOUTHERN DEMOCRACY.

WASHINGTON, August 20.—Letters received here leave no [illegible] that the movement in the South to contest the negro vote, through the agency of all landholders and employers who refuse to employ colored laborers unless they vote the Democratic ticket, is assuming extensive proportions and pervading every State. A letter read to-day, addressed to a Senator, from a New York gentleman who has been traveling along the Mississippi river, says the system of terrorism successfully used in Mississippi is now inaugurated in Tennessee, and is much more efficient and thorough; that the landholders are, by the agency of the Ku Klux, controlling the suffrage of the negroes, and that unless some thorough and decided action shall be taken to vindicate the rights and privileges of the blacks, Tennessee must surely be lost. He says he has information from a trustworthy source that the Ku Klux in Tennessee are thoroughly organized, and number 100,000. He further says the twelve rebel Generals lately assembled at Nashville are leaders of the plan, and this is confirmed by letters from parties who say that the ostensible purpose of these rebel meetings in conclave was not the real one, and their fair talk is purely strategy, and done to operate on public opinion.

THE STAMPEDE FOR GRANT

[From the Chicago Republican, Aug. 21.]

The stampede of "Conservatives" from the Democratic ranks is no more than might have been expected after the nomination of Seymour and Blair. Men of cautious political tendencies do not propose to lend their aid to another rebellion, and do not like the company of the traitors, who have thus far made most noise on the Democratic side of the struggle. For such men there is no possible alternative but that of adhesion to the Republican ticket. The issue is broad and simple. The Tammany ticket means obstinate disloyalty, renewal of the rebellion, overthrow of the National Government, and final destruction of Union, followed by the re-establishment of slavery in the southern half of the country and a general inauguration of barbarism. The Union ticket means uncompromising loyalty, the completion of reconstruction, the full development of the resources of the nation, with liberty and equal justice to all men, white and black, debtors and creditors. Between these alternatives, truly conservative men will not long hesitate. The example of the Maryland Conservatives and of many others who have renounced Democratic affiliations to declare for Grant and Colfax, will be followed by great numbers all over the country. Thousands who may not announce their intentions in advance will quietly deposit Republican ballots on the 3d of November rather than sanction the Ku Klux spirit of the Blair Seymour party. The managers of the new rebellion will learn to their cost, what it seems the war did not teach them, that the more sensible men of their own party are not prepared to assist in hoisting again the Confederate flag.

SPIRIT OF THE SOUTH

[From the Chicago Tribune, August 21.]

General Forrest, who was a delegate in the New York Convention, and who declares that for his personal efforts there he obtained a pardon from Andrew Johnson, in his last speech notifies his old companions to hold themselves in readiness for a renewal of the rebel war, this time led and backed by the Democratic party, and in which "there shall be no quarter given." He publicly advocates the election of Seymour as an indispensable requisite to the success of the Southern arms in the fight which must take place for the constitutional rights of the South.

The fact that General Sherman supports Grant has awakened all the ire of the Georgians. They are furious in denunciation of "Attila Sherman," whom they style "a tiger, whose taste for blood has only been blunted, not eradicated." They warn him that he will, when the war is renewed, find the Southern people prepared to avenge his brutalities.

The Charleston Mercury of July 30th, whose editor was at the Convention, declares that the South will never submit to any State Government except that existing during the rebellion, and asks: "With a deliverance in prospect within three months (by the election of Seymour,) will they bow down to negro domination?"

The Mobile Register says that the Northern Democracy and the Southern rebels have become so identified in interest and principle that a rebel soldier need have no more hesitancy in expressing his sentiments to a Democratic meeting North than to his old comrades.

SHALL SLAVERY BE RESTORED

[From the St. Louis Democrat, Aug. 20.]

[illegible] the New York Convention, Wade Hampton [illegible] a speech at the Virginia Military Academy that "the lost cause would yet be regained."

He went to New York as a delegate and was [illegible] and [illegible] by that assembly. [illegible] boasted after his return of the great pains taken in convention to testify regard for Hampton.

He was put upon the committee on resolutions, [illegible] Democrats from the South who had worn [illegible] more there, and loose Democrats and Copperheads from the North. But Wade Hampton stated the [illegible] the only real [illegible] ing taste. Hear him tell how it was done:

"Gentlemen from the North, South, East and West [illegible] the great [illegible] to act in harmony. I am free to confess that they met us everywhere with cordiality and good will. In [illegible] they declared their willingness to give us everything we could desire. But they begged us to remember that they had a great fight to make at the North, and they therefore besought us not to load the platform with a weight they could not carry [illegible] the principles which they held [illegible] them [illegible] to relieve the [illegible] and last [illegible] the Constitution AS IT HAD EXISTED BEFORE THE WAR. I could not fail to appreciate their kindness, and I felt that I [illegible]. Together with [illegible] I went to the [illegible] that Bayard of Delaware that suffrage was a matter for State legislation, provided they would allow me to add three words. They agreed to this and I then added the clause which you will find embodied in the platform: 'And we declare that the reconstruction acts are UNCONSTITUTIONAL, REVOLUTIONARY AND VOID.' THAT IS MY PLANK IN THE PLATFORM. The great Democratic party being pledged to that declaration, I wanted nothing else. I could wait patiently for their triumph to show how it was to be worked out in their own good time. That the right of suffrage belongs to the States is [illegible] that suits us when the great Democratic party is pledged to the declaration that the [illegible] acts are unconstitutional, revolutionary and void, especially when every member of the party, and the warmest are from the North, are ready to take it up and carry it out."

First, then, the platform was toned down to "help Democrats [illegible] gain the power." Having gained it, they pledge themselves to restore the Constitution as it existed before the war. In the Constitution as it existed before the war, there was no prohibition of slavery. According to Wade Hampton, then, the Democrats privately pledged themselves, if they could once regain power, to restore slavery.

Senator Williams in San Francisco

San Francisco papers publish the speech delivered by Senator Williams at Platt's Hall in that city on the evening of the 27th August, and speak of it as a very able performance. We present some extracts from it:

I know that the Democratic party comes to the laboring man and to the naturalized citizen of this country with honeyed words in its mouth, but I refer to its records of sixty years and ask if it can furnish any such practical proof of sympathy with the white laboring men of this country as a Republican Congress has furnished by this legislation. [Applause and cheers.] I know that a large proportion of the votes of these classes of people go to the Democratic party. Perhaps they will continue to do so for a while, but time I doubt not will open their eyes, and they will see that this modern Democratic party, so called, while it is fair enough in form and in name, is a whited sepulchre full of rottenness and dead men's bones. [Applause.] Citizens of foreign birth, allow me to say to you that you may follow the standard of the Democratic party till the crack of doom, but the institutions of the Old World will remain unshaken until that spirit which, in the hands of the Republican party, smote down slavery in this country, touches with its inspiration the hearts of the down trodden masses of Europe, and until it is written upon the doorposts of the people as well as upon the pillars of despotic thrones that all men are born free and equal. [Applause and cheers.] All the tendencies of the Democratic party, under the educational influences of slavery, are to intolerance and proscription. I do not know what sort of men would be allowed to vote, if this party could make its choice, but I presume that a man who was born in North Carolina, and had managed to find his way through Indiana or Kentucky to western Missouri and finally graduated in Price's army would be a fair specimen of the governing classes in this country, if the Democratic party could have exactly its own way. [Applause.] Listen to the arguments that are employed in this country, upon the elective franchise, and you will find that they are but a repetition of the arguments that the Tory party of England are using to-day, in that country, upon the same question. One argument will answer for both countries. I say, on the other hand, that the tendencies of the Republican party are to liberal views and a generous policy. Holy Scripture says that God made all the nations of the earth of one blood, and the Declaration of Independence declares that all men are born free and equal. Catching the spirit of these immortal truths, the Republican party holds that merit and not the accident of birth is the measure of a man's worth [applause]; that in the eyes of God a poor man is as good as a rich man, and so he should be in the eyes of the Government; and that all the blessings of Government, like the dews of Heaven, should descend equally upon all men. That is the shibboleth of the Republican party; that is the blazing banner in the sky that beckons us on to certain victory. [Cheers.]

I have been requested to refer to one subject especially, and that is the late treaty which has been made between the United States and China. This is a question out of which the Democratic party of the Pacific coast make most of their political capital. Andrew Johnson's administration, which is certainly not under Republican influences—all of whom, so far as heard from, are supporting Seymour and Blair—made a treaty with the Commissioners in China, in which it was provided that the Chinese in this country shall enjoy the rights of the most favored nation. That treaty was submitted to the Senate for ratification. I observe that the distinguished gentleman who is Senator elect from this State, in a late speech complains of the Senate in connection with this treaty. Every gentleman, of course, knows that the Senate makes no treaty. When this treaty was submitted to the Senate objection was made that it might be so construed as to confer the right of naturalization upon Chinese in this country, and the Senate would not agree to its ratification unless it was so amended as to obviate that objection. [Applause.] And a Republican Senate did amend the treaty, so that, in express words, it provides that it shall not be construed to confer the right of naturalization upon Chinese. [Applause.] Now, here was the distinct question submitted by a Democratic Administration to a Republican Senate, and the body determined, then and there, upon full argument, that no treaty should be made extending the right of naturalization to Chinamen in the United States. [Cheers.] That ought to settle this question, so far as the Republican party is concerned. Everybody knows that Chinamen cannot now be naturalized, under the law, and I know of nobody in the United States, with the exception of Mr. Sumner, and I have not heard him say anything upon the subject of late—who is now in favor of a modification of that law. There is something rather funny in the apparent hostility of the party to the Chinese. Now if I remember aright, when Burlingame and his Chinese associates came here, your Democratic Governor did not hesitate to hob-nob a little with Chinamen. Did they know who they were? Embassadors from China. Did they not know the object of their visit to the United States? When they arrived in Washington, Fernando Wood, the Great Mogul of Democracy in the city of New York, moved that the House of Representatives suspend its business to receive with distinction and honor Burlingame and his Chinamen [laughter], and Brooks, another magnate of the party, came walking into the House one very hot day with one of these moon-eyed Celestials hanging upon his arm. [Laughter.] Hendricks also, the ex-Presidential candidate of the Democratic party, came into the Senate one day with a [illegible] hanging on his arm, and all went merry as a marriage bell. [Great laughter.] Who knows that any Democrat in either branch of Congress made any objection whatever to this treaty? Who does not know that so far as [illegible] and attentions are concerned, they received as much from the representatives of the Democratic party as they did from the representatives of the Republican party. Democrats perhaps would make a distinction by saying that these persons were men of position, and [illegible] country. I know that there is a [illegible] prejudice existing here upon this question. [illegible] emigration [illegible] and political [illegible] material [illegible] promoted [illegible] evil but the [illegible] of the United States against the Chinese and the Japanese and [illegible] against these nations? [illegible] Japan and China will shut their [illegible] the United States [illegible] destroyed [illegible]

What [illegible] if they [illegible] the administration of [illegible] Government than the Republicans have been. While they denounce the financial [illegible] they assume that the Republican party is responsible for the great public debt and the consequent taxation which weighs down the energies of the people. Is this assumption to be taken for granted? Making all necessary and proper individual exceptions, as I do, I say that the Democratic party of this country is responsible for the financial embarrassments and distress which now afflict this nation. [Applause.] Is it to be forgotten that under the Democratic administration of Buchanan the rebellion was organized, that by the action of his Democratic Cabinet the munitions of war were placed in the fortresses of the South and the navy scattered in distant seas, so that the rebellion might be put on the full tide of successful experiment without any serious obstacle? Is it to be forgotten that Davis, and Breckinridge, and Toombs, and Wigfall and the leading Democrats of the South were the leaders of this rebellion and its military chieftains in the war upon the Government? Is it to be forgotten that the Seymours, the Woods, the Pendletons, the Vallandighams of the North sympathised with their Democratic brethren in the struggle and gave them countenance and favor? Is it to be forgotten that these two wings of the party, whose unity of action has been disturbed by the late unpleasantness, have now, since hostilities ceased, by natural and irresistible affinity, floated together and mingled into one, and that they now stand shoulder to shoulder harmoniously working for the election of Seymour and Blair? Everybody knows that during the war the expenditures of the Government were immense, amounting to six or seven hundred millions a year, but since hostilities ceased, the controlling party has strained every nerve to reduce the expenditures of the Government and the taxation of the people. [Applause.] During the first session of the Thirty-ninth Congress, taxes that yielded sixty millions a year were removed, and, during the second session of the same Congress, taxes yielding forty millions were removed. Since the commencement of the Fortieth Congress, taxes which yielded ninety millions a year have been removed. [Applause.] Three hundred millions of the public debt have been paid. Congress, in its appropriations for the past [illegible] year, has fallen short of the estimates [illegible] by the various Departments of the Government to an amount of about eleven millions of dollars, and independently of the interest on the public debt, and of pensions and bounties, which I [illegible] everybody will admit ought to be paid, the appropriations of Congress during the present [illegible] year amount to about $108,000,000 in greenbacks, while the same class of appropriations during the last year of Buchanan's administration amounted to about $70,000,000 in gold. Could any reasonable man ask more than this of the majority in Congress? Have not the taxes been removed from all the industrial interests of the country as far as they could be? And, considering the natural increase of the population and business of the nation, I will ask if this is not a creditable showing? That the appropriations now in greenbacks are a little over $100,000,000, when [illegible] than eight years ago, under a Democratic administration, they were $70,000,000 in gold. What is there in the record of the Democratic party to justify the expectation that it will be more honest or economical in the administration of public affairs than has been the Republican party? Suppose that you turn out of office all the men who at this time administer the Government, and appoint a few hundred rebels, who, like the Prodigal Son, have been feeding upon husks for the last seven or eight years. Suppose you add to these a few hundred Democratic office seekers of the North who have been so long shut off from the public crib that they have hardly substance enough to make a shadow when the sun shines upon them. [Laughter.] Suppose you turn out of office all the [illegible] who have been occupying positions and fill them with this half famished, hungry horde of office [illegible], how much do you suppose the financial condition of this country would thereby be improved? [Applause and great laughter.] Are we altogether without evidence on this subject? May we not refer to those parts of the country where the Democratic party have gained control? Take, if you please, for example, the very Democratic city of New York. Twenty-five millions of dollars are annually wrung from the people of that city, a very large proportion of which is confessedly stolen by Democratic office holders. Nowhere in this nation, and perhaps I might extend the remark and say nowhere, has official plunder and robbery been reduced to such a perfect system as in the Democratic city of New York. [Applause.] According to all accounts that I have [illegible] never was a body of men assembled together in one place so full of corrupt schemes and jobs as was the last Democratic Legislature of the State of New York. Look, too, if you please, at the State of Ohio, where the Democrats have a brief lease of power, and what do you find them doing there? Did they hasten to reduce the expenses of the government or the taxes of the people? Nothing of the kind, but they proceeded to declare that any person within the State who had any visible admixture of African blood in his veins should be disfranchised, and that all students attending the seminaries and colleges in the State should also be disfranchised. When the Supreme Court of the State touched this legislation, of course it vanished, for it was void; but it serves to illustrate the narrow, bitter and proscriptive spirit of the Democratic party.

Our republican system was invented to enable the poor, the low-born and the weak to assist themselves. [Applause.] If there was ever a necessity for the application of this principle, it was in the rebel States, for black men there were hated, not only because they had sympathized with the cause of the Union, and they have been and are persecuted and proscribed for the color of their skin, for which they are no more responsible than they are for the darkness of this night. [Applause.] One would suppose from the noise that is made here on this subject, that hostility to negro suffrage was the alpha and omega of the Democratic creed. Strange as it may seem, however, there is not a resolution, or a line, or a word in the New York Democratic platform expressly condemnatory of negro suffrage. Why this significant silence? Did not the managers of that Convention make the platform in this way so that the Democratic politicians in the North could appeal to the prejudice prevailing there against the black race, while Democratic politicians in the South could appeal to the negro to support the Democratic ticket, as they are doing to-day? [Applause.] If you take up the newspapers you will read of the Democratic meetings in the South made up of negroes and white men—of Democratic processions of negroes, of white and black mingling together in sweet communion under the name of the Democratic party. Let a negro propose to vote the Democratic ticket, and every Democratic politician sees a "Helen's beauty in his brow of Egypt," and his odor, that would otherwise be so offensive, becomes as myrrh and frankincense to the nostrils of the same Democratic politicians. [Applause and laughter.]

REMOVING THAT FOOL NASBY."—We have frequently read of "green" Democrats asserting their belief that Petroleum V. Nasby was not [illegible] orthodox in all his Copperhead ideas as expressed in his letters from the Confederate X Roads, but we always supposed that the stories were stupendous "jokes on Snyder," made up by some wicked newspaper chap. Amongst our Iowa exchanges yesterday we found a paragraph which plainly proves that all the fools are not dead yet—in Fayette county at least. In the Fayette County [illegible] of Wednesday, August 5th, and which is a brass mounted Seymour and Blair organ, we find the following stunning paragraph. It appears on the editorial page, among other equally grave articles. It is hard to believe that any man, and especially an editor, could be so "green" in this century of letters and lights, but it is a fact that Iowa holds such a blockhead. When Democratic editors, the teachers of the party, are so magnificently verdant, it is easy to imagine what the masses are. The Nasby obliterating article reads as follows:

"NASBY.—Were we Andy Johnson we would remove this X Roads P. M., or stop his writing such [illegible] letters. He no doubt means well enough, but such awkward and uncouth expressions [illegible] grammar and orthography will [illegible] that Democrats are as ignorant as [illegible] charge, and on the whole will injure [illegible] more than it will do good. [illegible] perfectly unpalatable and impossible [illegible] should be written, but we have [illegible] and any doubt [illegible] himself."—Iowa State Reg[illegible]

The Columbia River

An advocate of the Northern Pacific Railroad tells Oregon that her principal interest is in the immediate construction of that road that Puget Sound is the natural outlet of Oregon that the commercial city is to be on the Sound and Oregon is to be one of its feeders, and he calls on Oregon to rejoice at the prospect of a nearer port than San Francisco through which to send her wheat to China. We are familiar with the California view of Oregon and now we have the Puget Sound view of us. But this latter view is based on two erroneous assumptions namely that the consumers of Oregon products reside in China and that Oregon has no port from which to ship them.

The Asiatics will learn but slowly if they ever learn to consume what we produce and the foreigners residing there will never be numerous enough to consume very much. California has, and will probably continue for years to have more of the same things to sell and she has already her steam line and commercial relations through which to monopolize that very limited market. As now so in future, the surplus wheat wool and other productions of this coast will be mostly consumed in the Atlantic States and Europe. By what route will Oregon send hers? By way of San Francisco says San Francisco. By way of Puget Sound says Puget Sound. Now, seventy-five miles northwest of the city in which Oregon products accumulate for export is the mouth of the Columbia river. Its entrance is deeper, wider and straiter than the entrance to the harbor of New York. With this harbor Portland is connected by a magnificent river, and may easily be connected by rail. Through her own port, by a shorter, quicker and cheaper route than either of her kind neighbors offer her, Oregon proposes to supply her customers. And when her cargoes are out at sea she will hardly run them into Puget Sound for reshipment, nor land them at San Francisco for that purpose. Ships sailing out of the Columbia river can and will learn the way to New York and Liverpool, and even to China.

When the coast survey chart is published, showing twenty four feet of water at low tide for the two miles in width, and when the [illegible] tug, which the bar pilots are now providing for, shall have taken her position [illegible] ships can come into the Columbia river [illegible] can enter the harbor of New York for [illegible] is two feet more water at low tide, and the tide rises higher here than there. Our [illegible] in winter storms, but accidents [illegible] on the bar. They occur [illegible], between the bar and the harbor, and solely for want of a tug to carry ships directly out or directly into port. That a tug will remove all difficulty is proved by the fact that no accident has ever happened to a vessel [illegible] by steam. The Gen Warren, lost eighteen years ago, is not an exception. She was about to founder at sea, having gone safely out, and in a sinking condition she came safely back inside, but sunk before reaching port.

Oregon, it will be found has a good enough [illegible] of her own and will not need her neighbors' ports, and she has no need for a northern road or a southern road to build up [illegible] ports at the expense of her own. Let her complete the roads she has begun and secure the connection with the Central Pacific and she will then have the benefit of a road [illegible] the continent and traversing the [illegible] through its most valuable parts and [illegible] direct trade with all the world. This is a Whitney road, the original plan of a Pacific railroad. Its construction is easy, and it will be equally fruitful in local, national and general benefits. But Oregon would be glad to [illegible] the [illegible] of both the [illegible] and southern roads, and every other [illegible] branch that would tend to develop our [illegible] of new States and Territories. The Columbia river, however, will afford an outlet for the principal part of the products of this State, and when the lines of trade are [illegible] established and commerce falls into its regular channels, it will be found that this river will be used for shipping, though [illegible] may a railroad on the one hand to Puget Sound, and on the other to San Francisco.

Return of Senator Williams

Quite a large party visited Senator Williams on Saturday evening, and welcomed with a [illegible] his return to his home. The Senator responded in a brief though very forcible speech, returning thanks for the demonstration, expressing his gratification at again being able to visit his State and see his constituents, and continuing his remarks for about three quarters of an hour on political topics and the general state of the country. He urged very strongly that it would be to the interest of Oregon to give her vote to Grant and Colfax that the Republican candidates were sure to be elected that they both have personal knowledge of the position and wants of Oregon that the opposing candidates know nothing of our State and even if elected, are not the men who would favor our interests, that if Oregon votes against Grant and Colfax she will set herself in opposition to all the Northern States and the controlling political element of the country and will therefore not be in a position to command the attention which she would otherwise surely receive. The Senator also touched upon the revolutionary avowals and designs of the Democratic party and the Southern rebels and stated that the issue of the campaign was the election of Grant and Colfax with peace and security to the country or the election of Seymour and Blair with renewed commotions and perhaps civil war. The speaker announced that he expected to have the pleasure of addressing the people of Oregon at large before the election.

We can say no more of Senator Williams than that he has done his duty both to the nation and his own State. In him Oregon has a man of influence and power at the national capital and his course has been acceptable both to the Republicans in this State and through the country at large. He has never for one moment faltered in upholding the measures [illegible] by the loyal people of the nation [illegible] reconstruction the defeat of the Johnson policy and the present favorable prospect for a final triumph over the disloyal combination of men who are following the revolutionary standard of Seymour and Blair are attributable in no small degree to his earnestness ability and fidelity.

Oregon as a Missionary Field

Itinerant missionaries are sometimes [illegible] to the traveler's particular [illegible] [illegible] startled good reader we do not mean lying generally or malignantly but simply in the self boasting way about their exploits and hardships and the miserable [illegible] of the barbarous people and [illegible] country they are called to minister [illegible] In this way they magnify their calling exaggerate their sufferings and [illegible] selves for accomplishing so little of anything for the cause they profess to serve.

We are moved to make these remarks on account of a communication in the Pacific Churchman of August 27 entitled "Oregon as a Missionary Field" and [illegible] "Oregonian Missionary".

The writer appears to have [illegible] imagination and exaggerates if not invents freely. The editor (whom we excuse for want of correct information) endorses this [illegible] and treatens to send a copy of the communication to each Bishop in the General Convention that meets in October so that they may be able to select a missionary Bishop who shall be adapted to this people and country.

As an Oregonian, we protest against this thing. Oregon is not a wilderness nor are its people ignorant barbarians or [illegible]. The whole tenor and tone of this communication does gross injustice to the country and condition of the people in Oregon. The [illegible] take which our unhappy missionary made was in coming to Oregon at all. The country is too far advanced for him and [illegible] he will he can never overtake it. He should have remained in the wilds of the southwest where his bulls and his blarney would have been less exposed to the laugh and ridicule of a humorous and critical people. A missionary to Oregon whether priest or bishop besides his professional education should have tact and common sense and the manners and tastes of a gentleman. It is a mistake to think that any uncultivated blatherskite can succeed as a missionary in Oregon. But few of our people can stomach such an [illegible] long. Of this fact the correspondent of the Pacific Churchman should long ere this have been well satisfied.

As specimens of the [illegible] and [illegible] manner of our unlucky missionary we quote. After whining over the long and fatiguing journeys indispensable to the missionary, he writes of one (himself we suppose) "who traveled over 5 000 miles in the short period of six months for the sake of fanning the spark of divine life and keeping it from going out in these out of the way places." Well, what of that? Omitting [illegible] days, this would be about 30 miles a day an easy day's work on a fair horse. Methodist itinerants in Oregon have done the like year in and year out, for decades past in these out of the way places.

Again: "Often and often have I seen him (Bishop Scott) perfectly exhausted by such long journeys." We surmise that the Bishop has been quite as often exhausted by the missionary as the "long journeys." Besides this is all bosh. The fact is that Bishop Scott, during his residence here did not travel more than would be agreeable and conducive to the health of any person of ordinary constitution and physical strength. Nor did the Bishop resign this jurisdiction on account of these "long journeys." He left Oregon in 1867 on account of the health of his wife, and at the same time contemplated resigning on account of want of physical strength. In speaking of this matter in his last annual address, delivered in May 1867 he says "However, this will remain an open question until submitted to my brethren of the House of Bishops. I trust I need not say that this step is not contemplated from any dissatisfaction with the diocese. On the contrary there is not a diocese for which I would exchange it, and if relieved of this I should never accept any other permanent jurisdiction."

The good Bishop seems to have thought better of Oregon than the missionary. His language is, "there is not a diocese for which I would exchange it."

Further on we are treated to a yarn about Dr McCarty being accustomed to walk from Fort Vancouver to Portland, to preach the gospel and pay his hotel bills "and swim the swollen sloughs of the Columbia with his clothes tied on his head on his return home." This is worthy of the author of Sinbad the Sailor. And even if true the story is told so as to make a false impression. Dr McCarty sometimes held services in Portland ten or twelve years since, but that day is not this nor is the present condition of Oregon to be estimated by occurrences of that day.

Dr McCarty was Chaplain at Vancouver and occasionally held services at Portland in early times. Sometimes as a matter of choice he may have walked across the narrow neck of land between Portland and Vancouver a distance of six or eight miles and what of it. Does this Oregon missionary think it a matter of reproach to this country that ten or twelve years ago a clergyman occasionally or even once a week walked a half a dozen miles for the sake of fanning the spark of divine life and keeping it from going out in these out of the way places? If so we can assure him that he has missed his vocation while Dr McCarty like St Paul counted such things for nothing.

We hope we will not be misunderstood in this matter, by either the religious public the Pacific Churchman or the "Oregonian Missionary." We write not to ridicule missionaries or to make light of their labors and privations but only to prevent Oregon from being held up to the world and the House of Bishops as a vast wilderness sparsely populated by an ignorant and prejudiced people. If in so doing we have spoken [illegible] disparagingly of the correspondent of the Churchman we beg to assure him that we have borne with him as much as in us lay considering the flagrant indiscretions of his pen and the gross exaggerations of his story.

Finally we assure the Pacific Churchman that a Bishop to be adapted to this people and country should in manly sense and manners, education and culture be the peer of any in the United States.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to be present at the Linn County Fair to be held at Albany commencing on the 22d of the present month. The Fair we learn promises to excel in interest and importance any heretofore held.

Says the Eugene paper: J B Underwood [illegible] has shown us a gold brick from Bohemia [illegible] which he had assayed in Portland a few days ago. It weighs $16 25 and is from 400 pounds of rock making a yield of $ [illegible] [illegible] The rock was of an average quality and no gold was visible in it.

The Dalles Woolen Factory is almost ready to run. It is a two set mill one for manufacturing [illegible] blankets the other for manufacturing shirts drawers and hosiery. There are fifteen knitting machines capable of making forty dozen pairs of stockings per day one balmoral machine for knitting skirts shirts and drawers four wide looms for weaving cassimeres and blankets the capacity of which is two hundred yards per day. The mill will use about 150 000 pounds of wool in a year and will employ about thirty hands.

The Corvallis Gazette publishes reports of great losses by fires about Yaquina Bay. We quote: For three days the fire has been sweeping both sides of the Bay and all its tributaries. People eat their noon day meals by candle light. So intensely thick is the smoke that the sun has been [illegible] of its lustre and nervous folks are getting very anxious about "Old Sol." Reports are coming in daily of persons making narrow escapes [illegible] have been destroyed. Oyster [illegible] probably burned. B T Jones [illegible] W J Dennis I Stones, [illegible] Nutes and [illegible] dwellings are all burned. [illegible] in large quantities are destroyed. Probably at no time since the "great fire" has there been one so extensive and destructive as this. The Premier Mill was completely surrounded by [illegible] and great pieces of bark were carried three quarters of a mile and lighted in the lumber yard setting fire to anything that was combustible [illegible] buckets of water with tenders were placed [illegible] yard supposing the danger was over [illegible] places are yet in peril. The steamer [illegible] was unable to navigate her way through [illegible] the smoke. Bay and night are [illegible].

What the Herald Says

The Herald has often declared that its party will not submit to the Radical programme [illegible] its party will though. In 1860 it made a [illegible] declaration but had not been [illegible] the country found a way of persuading [illegible] and if necessary can do the same [illegible].

The Herald says: "As between the Radicals and [illegible] the essentials right, justice [illegible] humanity were all on the side of the latter." Why [illegible] the editor tell the simple truth [illegible] few words by saying that "As between the Union [illegible] and Secessionists the Democratic party was wholly on the side of the latter."

The Herald says that reconstruction as accomplished by the Radicals is infamous —the greatest crime of the age. The very words the editor of that paper used to apply to the measures of the Union party for saving the Union. Only a little while ago "coercion" was the greatest crime of the age. Resistance to secession was just as infamous as "Radical reconstruction" now is.

The Herald says that if the other gentlemen (Beauregard, Forrest Semmes Lee Buckner and Breckinridge) fought for slavery disunion and Democratic principles, they were fully justified by the laws of nature and of civil society in fighting. Just what the editor and his party said before and during the war. They "fully justified" the Southern rebels because the rebellion was fully in accord with "Democratic" principles. Can any sane man suppose that the people knowing those things will trust such a party with supreme control of the nation?

The Herald says that "if our members of the Federal Legislature had taken the pains as they traveled, to make speeches for Oregon instead of for Stevens and impeachment, this State would have been better known than it is." And suppose that in Democratic times Senator Lane, Representatives Stout and Sheil, et al, had taken the pains to make speeches for Oregon instead of arguing for the right of secession, making fire eating speeches and "going out to stand" wouldn't Oregon have been somewhat better known than it is? At any rate, wouldn't the State have acquired a somewhat better reputation than it obtained through their efforts to promote the "time-honored principles" of secession and rebellion?

We have just discovered why the Copperheads make such a fuss about Grant's name. It is because it is not C S Grant instead of U S. The former would suit them exactly.

The Protestant population of France is 1 200, 000.

THE CHRONICLES.

And it came to pass in the third year of the reign of George the Third who was ruler over the land of Webfoot that the news went through all the land that at KOHN & FISHEL at No 91 Front street Portland were selling Dry Goods and Clothing at fabulously low prices and all the people heard it and they straightway [illegible] and when they had beheld the [illegible] at KOHN & FISHEL'S store they marveled and said: The half has not been told us for here we can buy [illegible] of Clothing and Dry Goods for ourselves [illegible] wives and our little ones much cheaper than at any other place in all the land of Webfoot. And from that day even until now the people have come in great numbers to buy their goods of KOHN & FISHEL.

Are You Bilious?—Multitudes of both sexes will answer this question in the affirmative. [illegible] disorders of the stomach liver [illegible] complaints are perhaps the most prevalent of all internal diseases. Its usual symptoms are a yellowish tinge in the whites of the eyes especially near the inner corners a [illegible] easy or slightly painful sensation in the side [illegible] between the shoulder blades sick headache lassitude [illegible] [illegible] lack of appetite and irregularity of the bowels. Whoever recognizes this diagnosis applying to his [illegible] may be quite certain that more bile exists [illegible] blood and less passes through his bowels [illegible] is [illegible] for his health and that his liver requires [illegible] and regulating. ROBBERY—A REWARD OFFERED.—On Friday evening last, a man named Brown who has been for some time hanging about Johnny Collin's San Francisco Saloon and Bakery, was detected in the act of getting away with [illegible] of Johnny's money. The money had been taken from the safe during the day, and at the suggestion of Brown, a telegram had been sent to Salem to stop a couple of men who had gone up in the morning, on suspicion of having taken it. During the day and evening, such things occurred as to lead Collins to suspect Brown, and the event proved that his suspicions were correct. Late in the evening Brown went out the back door and was followed down the wharf by Johnny and his cook, Leon. Just as they were about to seize upon him, he threw a box, done up in paper, into the river and then escaped. Johnny was satisfied that his money was in the box, and he kept watch during the night to prevent Brown from recovering it. Next day, Saturday, divers went down to make search for it and succeeded in finding $370 in gold and silver, a gold ring and a [illegible] French piece, and yesterday, a boy went down and brought up a five dollar piece and some small silver. The box seems to have come open and the money [illegible] laid on the bottom. Brown, besides robbing Collins had robbed two men up stairs. One of them [illegible] that he had lost $85, and afterwards that he had lost $102. The other lost only a few dollars. The gold ring and the French piece fished up, were recognized as the property of one of the Frenchmen who were robbed [illegible] They were both intoxicated at the time and Brown had been officious in putting them to bed. This [illegible] early in the week, but Brown had not been particularly suspected of it. Collins' money was taken from the safe by a key of which he carried himself. It is supposed that Brown had at some time procured an impress of it [illegible] and had made a duplicate. Brown is supposed to be hid in this city, and Collins offers a reward of [illegible] for his arrest. He had not been Collins' barkeeper, but was staying about the place, and had volunteered to [illegible] keeping the rooms up stairs in order during the [illegible] of Johnny's sister, and had sometimes been [illegible] of the saloon for a few minutes at a time, when Johnny was temporarily absent. Brown was some time ago, in the employ of Capt. Ankeny for a short time. Persons who know him, may find it to their advantage to keep a sharp lookout for him.

RENTING A COUNCIL CHAMBER.—The City Council is at present occupying a room in Blumauer & Rosenfeld's building, on the corner of Front and Alder streets, at a monthly rent of $70. It is a very comfortable room, moderately well furnished, large enough for all [illegible] purposes, with an Auditor's office and Committee room attached, and is every way eligible as any room [illegible] of. The rent paid for it is high enough, perhaps a few dollars higher than it ought to be; but under the circumstances—the city being expected always to pay more for anything than a private individual—it does not seem extravagant, and is perhaps as near the right figure as it would be reasonable to expect. [illegible] in the Council, however, seems to have an itching for a change in the direction of the monthly rent [illegible] to deposit the dollars in a new pocket. An [illegible] is now pending directing the Mayor and a [illegible] to contract with Messrs. Holmes & Goodwin for the rent of their new hall (unfinished) on [illegible], at the rate of $100 per month. It is understood that the new hall is to be very nice and commodious, but what peculiar advantages it will have over the present chamber, to make it cheaper [illegible] than the other at $70, has not yet been [illegible]. It will be a little more high-toned and that [illegible] dignity, &c., and members of the Council; [illegible] people want to pay $30 a month for tone? If [illegible] to be toned up instead of down, the [illegible] be impudent enough to ask, what has become [illegible] not so lavishly made when [illegible] city were out and trying to get in. The [illegible] wear white kid gloves and they are dull [illegible] what tone is worth. The mudsills [illegible] who fail to appreciate the air which [illegible] toned and costlier City Hall would give [illegible] have started a remonstrance [illegible] style of retrenchment contemplated [illegible] and they say that a good [illegible] not fear the majesty of the Mayor and the [illegible] have exhibited hardihood enough to [illegible] the matter stands at the present writing [illegible] with some curiosity to see the result of [illegible] the taxpayers and the representatives.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—Mr. Thos. H. Craw[illegible] of the Grand Lodge, furnishes the following [illegible] held last week at Albany:

[illegible] I. O. G. T. closed the labors of its [illegible] at Albany last Friday. [illegible] for the ensuing year are as follows: G. [illegible]; G. W. Counsellor, J. W. [illegible]; Miss Mary Bird; G. W. S., T. H. [illegible]; P. H. Fox; G. W. Chaplain, [illegible]; G. W. M., P. Reany; G. W. D. M., Miss [illegible]; G. W. I. G., G. W. V. H. [illegible]; G. W. O. [illegible] Umpire, J. M. Bacon, Scorer, Clackamas; [illegible] Scorer, Pioneers.

[illegible]—The Unionist has an account of two [illegible] men of Salem who undertook to show that [illegible] better than the lager beer jerkers, lately [illegible] from Portland. The result was just as it [illegible] that goes in against trained and unscru[illegible]. They lost a gold watch and about eighty [illegible] in coin. The Unionist calls upon the City [illegible] out the L. B. Jerkers' shebang, to save [illegible] young men. This is good advice, [illegible] upon the morals and easy virtue of [illegible] there.

[illegible] HOTEL.—Messrs. Sewall & Cook, having [illegible] of Arrigoni's Hotel, have changed [illegible] "Cosmopolitan," and they propose to re[illegible] some degree, the plan upon which the house [illegible] in order to make it better accord with [illegible] wants of the people. The new proprietors [illegible] good house, at moderate charges—the public [illegible] of that.

[illegible] NEW YORK.—The North American Steam[illegible] advertises that they are running "Un[illegible] opposition—lower rates than ever, to New [illegible] Panama." The Nevada will sail September [illegible] and the Oregonian October 5th. The popular com[illegible] John E. Kelly, goes in command of the former.

[illegible]—Walter Moffett and James B. [illegible] are about to build a wharf one hundred and [illegible] feet long, at the foot of Main street. Bids for [illegible] the work are invited, and plans and specifi[illegible] at the City Surveyor's office.

[illegible] Some immigrants who had just arrived [illegible] from Missouri, bound for Washington county [illegible] through this city on Saturday. They report but a [illegible] emigration this way; some scarcity of feed on the [illegible] no trouble with the Indians.

[illegible] OKANAGAN.—This steamer, which was snagged and [illegible] near the Cowlitz last week, has been raised and [illegible] up to this city. The damage sustained was not [illegible] and she will be repaired and ready for service [illegible] few days.

GONE TO SEA.—By oversight, we omitted to state on [illegible] morning in our down river item, that the [illegible] towed the Live Yankee from Oak Point to Astoria [illegible] Wednesday. The bark has probably gone to sea.

CLACKAMAS REJOICETH EXCEEDINGLY.—The following "Extra" issued from the Oregon City Enterprise, Saturday evening, will convey a faint impression of the general rejoicing at Oregon City over the result of the game here, on that day. We leave out the display letter, the exclamation points, etc., which gave the affair tone: "The match played—Clackamas Club victorious—The champions of Oregon. The following dispatch, showing that the contest at Portland to-day decides that the Clackamas is the Champion Base Ball Club of this State has just been received: Portland, Sept. 5th—3 P. M.—Ed. Enterprise: Clackamas twenty six runs. Pioneers twenty-two runs. Clackamas the champions. D. P. Thompson."

We feel disposed, ourselves, to rejoice with those that rejoice, and to weep with those that weep; we therefore condole with the Pioneers and congratulate the Clackamas boys upon having beat the best club in the State.

BOOK-KEEPING.—Every man who expects to own property, manage property for others, go into business, or husband the rewards of labor, should learn to keep books and understand the details of what constitutes the care and management of the results of labor, with its outgoes and incomes. The earlier in life this knowledge is acquired, the more easily it is rendered practical; and to all who need it we commend the Commercial College of Messrs. Landen & De France, where instruction is given in such branches. As may be seen in advertisement in another column, evening school commences to-night.

FROM BELOW.—A passenger by the Coach reports that the bark Fulcanburg had not come in up to Saturday morning; but he thinks the smoke has cleared away by this time, so as to admit of her passing the bar. There are some fires in the mountains near the coast, but our informant says the fires up this way are more extensive.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. Mr. Daly, in consequence of illness resulting from a sea voyage, did not preach in the Congregational church yesterday, as had been expected. Mr. Dillon supplied his place......Rev. E. S. Peake, of San Jose, California, delivered a sermon at Trinity church at 11 A. M.

A ROPE WALKER COMING.—The State Journal says: "The one-legged tight rope walker, Mr. De Bonne, walked a rope stretched across the street at the height of the floor of the second story of the buildings. He says he intends walking a rope across the Willamette river at Portland, in October."

B. B.—A regular meeting of the Pioneer Club will be held this evening, at Buchtel's Gallery......The Athletic will meet for practice and business this evening at five o'clock, on the grounds near Morrison street and Park Avenue. By order of the Captain.

TO SAIL.—The Oriflamme will sail for San Francisco at 6 P. M. to-morrow. The Geo. S. Wright will sail for Victoria and all the ports on Puget Sound, at 6 o'clock this evening.

APPOINTMENT.—Gen. A. L. Lovejoy has been appointed a Notary Public for Multnomah county.

COUNTY COURT.—The September term of the County Court will open to-day.

The Pittsburg Chronicle says: "We saw the man last night who don't believe larger beer will intoxicate. He stopped us on Vine street to say 'Mos' harm'ss bev'ege in er 'orld. Man can drink fif'y glasses 'n never feel it more'n (hic) I am this min't. A man drinks whisky, an' he shows it. Drinks lager beer and don't sh eh show it, an' al'ys did! Look at t' noble 'Germ' pop pop-lash'n. Never see 'um tos-tos cated; don't yo; so am I! Lager beer has no more 'fect on me 'n so much water. Can walk (hic) hol through la'er, or see crack in er side 'alk well' ur'er man. Bet ye two dol'rs half dean."

Seymour was "dishonored" by accepting the Democratic nomination. He will be protested by the people in November. He will be worth then about as much as a Confederate bond.

The Revolution is discussing the question "Have not women the same right to have paramours that men have to keep mistresses?"

"If men or women could but find the fabled fountain which is said to restore health, and strength, and beauty, with what eagerness they would rush to drink its waters." It is found in the S. T.—1860—X. The sale of the PLANTATION BITTERS is without a precedent in the history of the world. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health-restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this.

PANIC-STRUCK BEAUTY.—It is a terrible shock to a charming woman—indeed, to any woman—to find that her teeth are "beginning to go." Never will any human being who uses the fragrant Sozodont, make that discovery.

"SPALDING'S GLUE," no well regulated family will be without it.

Perfume.—The most complete uniformity has been attained in the manufacture of Redington & Co's, FLORIDA WATER, so that it may be depended upon to be always equal in quality, and altogether the best, cheapest, and most attractive perfume in its style, yet produced in either this country or Europe.

A Constant Friend.—No mother would permit her child to suffer when SHE HAD IT IN HER POWER TO RELIEVE IT; why then allow your little darlings to suffer the agony of the Whooping Cough, when relief can be speedily had by the use of NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP.

Art may err, but nature cannot miss.—Nor can DR. E. COOPER'S UNIVERSAL MAGNETIC BALM, fail to cure those who are troubled with the Fever and Ague, or render instant relief for Burns, Poisonous Bites, Toothache, Earache, Headache, etc.

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

An Aged Stranger An Incident of the War

BY BRET HARTE

I was with Grant— the stranger said;
Said the farmer, "Say no more,
But rest thee here at my cottage porch,
For thy feet are weary and sore."

"I was with Grant—" the stranger said;
Said the farmer, "Nay, no more,—
I prithee sit at my frugal board,
And eat of my humble store.

"How fares my boy,—my soldier boy,
Of the old Ninth Army Corps?
I warrant he bore him gallantly
In the smoke and the battle's roar!"

"I know him not," said the aged man,
"And, as I remarked before,
I was with Grant—" "Nay, nay, I know,"
Said the farmer, "say no more:

"He fell in battle,—I see, alas!
Thou'dst smooth these tidings o'er,—
Nay, speak the truth, whatever it be,
Though it rend my bosom's core.

"How fell he,—with his face to the foe,
Upholding the flag he bore?
O say not that my boy disgraced
The uniform that he wore!"

"I cannot tell," said the aged man,
"And should have remarked before,
That I was with Grant,—in Illinois,—
Some three years before the war."

Then the farmer spake him never a word,
But beat with his fist full sore
That aged man who had worked for Grant
Some three years before the war.

The Islands of Pyramid Lake

Alluding to the islands in Pyramid Lake the Territorial Enterprise of August 1 says that a gentleman who had visited Pyramid Lake at last explored several of its islands at the season of laying and incubation for the myriads of gulls, ducks pelicans and other waterfowl that swarm upon its waters, states that at that time the larger islands are literally white with eggs. In walking from the shore toward the center of the islands it is impossible to proceed 50 feet without stepping upon some of the eggs, so thickly are they strewn over the ground. The owls inhabiting the islands are described as being exceedingly tame. They hover and flutter upon the ground about the intruder upon their breeding ground, or circle and scream about his head and with but little show of fear. This absence of fear of man is doubtless to be attributed to the fact that until lately that "feathered biped—man" has never been seen by them upon their islands. Owing to certain superstitious notions held by them in regard to the lake, the Indians have never, in the memory of their oldest chief, visited any of the islands. Even were they not withheld by the fear of monsters in the lake and upon the islands they have no boats or canoes, and know nothing even of that rudest of nautical arts—raft navigation. Among the islands of the lake are two small, rocky ones near to each other, and at no great distance from the shore of the lake, that are remarkable for the fact that they are alive with rattlesnakes. Huge and lazy old patriarchs of the islands, with long strings of rattles upon their tails, bask in the shade of almost every stone, while younger and more active members of the tribe glide about in all directions, and the intruder upon these islands of snakes is often treated to a serenade by a dozen sets of rattles of various degrees of power and shades of tone. Of course neither whites nor Indians would care to tarry long on these islands, nor to cultivate a more than passing notice with their musical inhabitants. It is supposed that the reason of these two islands being so completely alive and crawling with snakes is that a few having got on their shores by some accident and finding convenient dens in the rocks, they have ever since fed and fattened upon the eggs and unfledged young of the brooding waterfowl and have gone on increasing and multiplying with nothing to decrease or disturb them. We have said above that the Indians have bad superstitious notions about the lake and islands. These notions appear to take a more definite form than a vague fear of certain black monsters which they say inhabit its waters, having been driven into the lake by the united exertions of their people ages ago, because of their destroying the grove of nut pines. They declare that they have frequently seen the backs of these monsters, [illegible] protruding above the level of the water, far out in the lake. These stories are doubtless without the slightest foundation in fact. The Indians are not much to blame for these notions however, for by indulging in them they do not exhibit a greater degree of superstition than is displayed by the white race in all countries. But a short time since there was published an account of three or four monster serpents—a hundred feet long and some four feet in diameter—having been seen disporting themselves in Owen's Lake—causing its waters to boil like a pot. These Owen's Lake monsters are vouched for by Col Stevens, Superintendent of a mining company at Lone Pine, by a party of Mexicans and by a party of white men. Such stories have been told about lakes in all countries and the sea has had its monster ever since the Chinese discovered him, ages and ages ago. The monster or monsters of Pyramid Lake however, as described by the Piutes, are not serpents; they nearly resemble the mysterious monster of the Lake Kurele Sartor, one of the Western Norwegian Isles, which, at uncertain intervals it is said to arch its back above the lone waters of the lake and there remain lying like an islet, till it pleased to sink again drawing the water from the shores as it goes down and creating a great commotion. The Piutes have several times tried to point out to white men prospecting in that vicinity, the Pyramid Lake monsters, we have never met with any one who was able to see anything more than the swell upon the lake, blackened by the shadow of a passing cloud.

Southern Sentiment.

"General Hampton has altered in no way. Not one honest man south of Mason and Dixon's line is ashamed of the musket he bore or the sword he drew in defence of the Confederate flag. The man who says he is ashamed of it, lies." These are the words of the Charleston Mercury. And again it says: "We believe that we fought for our rights, driven on by fanatical Radicals. We believe so still. If there is to be a peace, the North must accept this fact. We meet on a parity of good will, or we meet not all. We ask no more than we give, and we give no more than we ask. If it is the expectation of men of the North that General Hampton, or men of the South, are to go there or elsewhere with bated breath, swallow our deeds, recant our principles, and fawn at the feet of Northern men, they mistake both him and us. We meet as friends or else as enemies."

The favorite candidate on the Democratic ticket, North and South is General Blair and it is his letter of acceptance which makes him so. Thus thinks the Richmond Dispatch and thus thinking it rejoices because, as it says, "these are, indeed, revolutionary times, and calls for revolutionary heroes—men of nerve, backbone and physical courage. Whoever hopes to deceive the Northern people, and make them believe that it is only an ordinary Presidential election, pays but a poor compliment to their powers of perception and marks himself as unfit to be a leader of any party. There was evidently a faction of the Democratic party at the North which hoped to do this thing, but Blair's letter has rendered it impossible for them to deceive themselves much longer. They will wake up and trim their lamps soon."

The Mobile Register says that should Congress impeach and attempt to remove the President in September he "ought to refuse to give up the reins and if the Radical faction elects to use force, let them shoulder the responsibility and the consequences." It is clear, it declares, the friends and defenders of the Constitution by which it means the Southern rebels and the Northern opponents of the war—Raphael Semmes and C. L. Vallandigham for example—have forborne and given back enough and should now halt and take not another step to the rear.

The New Orleans Picayune is among the Democratic papers which are giving advice to the colored man. It tells him that it would be much better for him to be in fact a rebel, if it were true that voting the Democratic ticket made him so, than to be a traitor to his family, to his race, to his country and to himself, by continuing his slavery to a league and a party "which design to put him in far worse condition, and to deprive him even more of the rights of manhood than did the old system of slavery itself."

The Radical Democratic papers of Georgia are just now revelling in severe denunciations of those Democratic members of the State Legislature who voted for the ratification of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution, consigning them to an infamy along side of which the [illegible] becomes [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] ate their [illegible] the [illegible] and haste to divide [illegible].

The Petersburg [illegible] says that should [illegible] come [illegible] life will be one so worthless that they would gladly throw it away to be avenged on the adversary.

A person, late on a Saturday afternoon hailed an Englishman as he was skillfully essaying the wily fisherman's art for trout with "Hallo! there! got anything?" "Got anything? of course not. I only came here last Wednesday," was the reply of the patient angler, [illegible] cast his patient fly.

"Ah!" said a conceited young person, "I have this evening been [illegible] [illegible] classes." "[illegible] that is still [illegible] you called them [illegible]," replied a strong minded lady.

The water in the French sewers is now utilized. They mix alum with it. This precipitates all the solid matter to the bottom, leaving the water quite clear. The solids are used for manure.

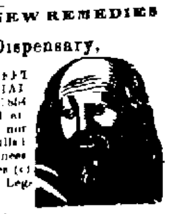
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,



616 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands fall until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Dr J. F. Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease a special study for years and who is certain to cure them with safety, and without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who, to make money, [illegible] their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz.: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who with bogus sworn certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.
